Report

The Department of Commerce and Management of Bon Secours Arts and Science College for Women, Gopalapuram, organized the Department Association Inaugural Function and “Exhiblitz–23” on 9 August 2023 at 10.00 a.m. in the Seminar Hall.

The programme aimed to motivate students and provide them with opportunities to showcase their creativity, knowledge, and practical skills. The Department Association was formally inaugurated, marking the beginning of various academic and co-curricular activities for the academic year. On this occasion, the department also organized an exhibition titled “Exhiblitz – 23.” Students enthusiastically displayed different models, charts, and creative presentations related to commerce, business concepts, marketing ideas, entrepreneurship, and financial awareness. The exhibition provided a platform for students to present their innovative ideas and practical understanding of business concepts. It also helped them develop teamwork, communication skills, and confidence.

The resource person, Dr. K. Ramesh, M.Com., M.Phil., SET., Ph.D., Professor, KSR College of Arts and Science (Autonomous), delivered a motivational discourse on “Identify Yourself.” In his speech, he encouraged students to recognize their talents, build self-confidence, and set clear goals for their future. His inspiring talk motivated the students to focus on self-development and career growth.

Report

The Department of Commerce and Management of Bon Secours Arts and Science College for Women, Vepadai, Namakkal, organized a four-day Department Add-on Course titled “GST on E-Commerce” from 22 January 2024 to 25 January 2024. The programme was conducted with the objective of enhancing the practical knowledge of students in the field of Goods and Services Tax (GST), particularly focusing on its application in the growing sector of e-commerce.

The add-on course was coordinated by JFM T. S. Mohana Harish, Internal Auditor and Financial Trainer, who also served as the Chief Guest and Resource Person for the programme. During the four-day training programme, the resource person explained various concepts such as the basics of GST, GST registration process, GST return filing, and the role of GST in digital and online trade. Special emphasis was given to the taxation policies applicable to e-commerce operators and sellers. The sessions were interactive and included practical examples, case discussions, and demonstrations that helped students clearly understand the procedures involved in GST compliance.

The programme also highlighted the importance of GST knowledge for commerce students, entrepreneurs, and future professionals. Students gained valuable insights into how taxation policies influence online businesses and how they can apply this knowledge in their professional careers. The trainer encouraged students to stay updated with the changing tax regulations and develop skills that would help them in the financial and accounting sectors.

A large number of students from the Department of Commerce actively participated in the programme and benefited from the informative sessions. The participants expressed their appreciation for the practical orientation and clarity provided during the training.

Report

To provide practical exposure beyond classroom learning, the Departments of Commerce and Management organized an Industrial Visit to Sakthi Sugars (P) Ltd. located at Appakudal. The visit aimed to help students understand real-world industrial operations and bridge the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical experience.

Students from the Commerce and Science departments participated in the visit along with their faculty members. During the visit, the students were guided through different sections of the company where they observed various stages involved in the sugar production process. The officials of the company explained how raw materials are processed systematically to produce sugar and related products.

The students gained valuable insights into several aspects such as the production process, packaging methods, and quality checking procedures followed in the industry. They also learned how raw materials are converted into finished products and how these products reach the final consumers through proper distribution channels. This exposure helped the students understand the practical application of concepts related to commerce, management, and industrial operations.

The visit was highly informative and engaging. Students interacted with industry personnel and clarified their doubts regarding manufacturing practices, management systems, and quality standards. As Commerce and Management students, they were able to connect their academic knowledge with real industrial practices.
